Do bad actors use cheap domains for medical?

Yes — bad actors often use cheap or throwaway domains to push questionable or outright dangerous medical content. It's a known tactic in both gray-market and black-hat SEO circles, especially when trying to avoid accountability or quickly churn through web traffic.

Is site source authority important?

Yes — site source authority is extremely important when it comes to medical information. It's one of the biggest signals that what you're reading is credible, evidence-based, and safe to trust.
